

As businesses have digitized, modern technology roles have expanded significantly within the executive tier.

Executive Title	Common Acronym	Core Responsibility
Chief Information Officer	CIO	Focuses on managing the internal IT infrastructure, software, and systems required to run the business smoothly.
Chief Technology Officer	CTO	Oversees the development and implementation of technology products sold to customers or external technological strategies.
Chief Information Security Officer	CISO	Dedicated to cybersecurity , protecting company data, assets, and infrastructure from digital threats.
Chief Data Officer	CDO	Governs the company's data management, analytics, and utilization as a strategic business asset.

These executives focus heavily on brand management, revenue generation, and customer retention.

Executive Title	Common Acronym	Core Responsibility
Chief Marketing Officer	CMO	Leads the marketing strategy, brand development, and advertising initiatives to drive brand awareness.
Chief Revenue Officer	CRO	Aligns all revenue-generating

Executive Title	Common Acronym	Core Responsibility
		departments (sales, marketing, customer success) to maximize incoming cash flow.
Chief Customer Officer	CCO	Enhances the customer experience (CX) and builds strategies to boost customer retention and satisfaction.

Depending on the industry and corporate structure, companies may employ these specialized administrative and legal leaders.

Executive Title	Common Acronym	Core Responsibility
Chief Legal Officer / General Counsel	CLO	Oversees all legal matters, regulatory compliance, litigation , and corporate governance.
Chief Human Resources Officer	CHRO	Manages talent acquisition, employee relations, company culture , and compensation strategies.
Chief Strategy Officer	CSO	Focuses on long-term corporate growth, mergers and acquisitions (M&A) , and strategic initiatives.
Chief Sustainability Officer	CSO	Directs environmental, social, and corporate governance (ESG) strategies to minimize environmental impact.